Guide to the UAA. Institute of Social and Economic Research
Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act research files
1953-1989

Collection number: UAA-0100.

Creating office: University of Alaska Anchorage. Institute of Social and Economic Research.

Series title: UAA. Institute of Social and Economic Research Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act research files.

Dates: 1953-1989.

Volume of series: 10.5 cubic feet.

Language of materials: Collection materials in English.

Series summary: Research materials regarding the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA).

Administrative history:

The second Alaska Legislature established the Institute of Social, Economic and Government Research (ISEGR), as part of the University of Alaska, on April 13, 1961. ISER was originally part of the University of Alaska Fairbanks. Currently ISER is an institute within UAA's College of Business and Public Policy.

Agency functions:

The function of the Institute of Social and Economic Research (ISER) is to study economic and social conditions in Alaska.

Series description:

This collection consists of records collected and/or created by ISER for the study of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) and the resultant Alaska Native regional corporations. The majority of these records concern a Ford Foundation grant to study the development of Alaska Native regional corporations. The collection is divided into four parts: grant administration files (1972-1976); general analytical files (1965-1976); Alaska Native regional corporations analytical files (1972-1979); and research files and publications (1967-1989). The grant administration files concern the Washington, D.C., consulting firm of Robert R. Nathan Associates, and the Alaska Native Foundation, the organization which received grants for research and programs related to ANCSA. The general analytical files concern native corporations under ANCSA. They include files on finances, land holdings, litigation, legislative history, organizations, and other aspects of ANCSA and native life. The Alaska Native regional corporations analytical files concern the status of the thirteen corporations, including operations, descriptions, interviews, investments, ANCSA implementation issues, and lands and resources. These records are derived from newspaper and magazine articles, corporate annual reports and newsletters, and other relevant materials. The original or copied clippings, annual reports, and newsletters are also included in this part. The general research files and publications concern ANCSA and its implementation.

Arrangement: The records are grouped into four parts as noted in the series description.

Digitized copies: Digital copies of collection material not available online. For information about obtaining digital copies, please contact Archives and Special Collections.

Use restrictions: The University does not hold copyright to collection materials not created by ISER.
