Agency function

The Adult Learning Center served the Anchorage community for 50 years. It provided an Adult High School Completion Program, GED preparation and testing services, English as a Second Language instruction, workforce training for clients on public assistance entering the world of work, beginning computer training, and Prometric high stakes testing. The Adult Learning Center closed on June 30, 2004.

Access restrictions

Some files may require redaction of student information prior to access. Please contact the Archives at least one week in advance of a research visit so the archivist may assist in identifying appropriate collection contents for your research topic and remove confidential documentation.
